Your donation helps empower others

Buffalo Bicycles are simple machines capable of a remarkably outsized impact—they have the power to transform lives across the globe.

From enabling children to attend school to boosting a farmer's ability to get to market, here are four ways your donation to World Bicycle Relief helps empower others.

You'll help children get an education

Education is the great equalizer for rural children, but distance is a big barrier. Bicycles help students overcome the many challenges they face on their way to school.

You'll help increase healthcare access

With two wheels, health workers are saving lives. They're working to combat COVID-19, eliminate malaria, teach health and nutrition, and visit more homebound patients.

You'll help boost local economies

With a bicycle, farmers and entrepreneurs increase their carrying capacity, earn more income, and improve the quality of life for their families.

You'll help improve the lives of women and girls

Investing in women and girls will change the world. With bicycles, they can access education, healthcare, and livelihoods to break the cycle of poverty and thrive.
